ADYTUM

THE ADYTUM VOLUME LXLIII

DENISON UNIVERSITY
GRANVILLE, OHIO 1985-86

Roderick L. Thomas . . . Editor-in-Chief
Dawn Michelle Dixon . . . Assistant Editor

My perspectives as a student have changed dramatically from year to year. Beginning freshman year, the freshness and freedom from home has quickly altered my naive outlook to a more sincere, self-reliant independence. Suddenly, the security of home was replaced by Denison's Smith Hall. This freshman dorm, however, became the home away from home. The identity as an all freshman hall allowed stronger friendships — friendships formed by students sharing the same newness, studies, and adjustments.

The following years, highlighted by my study abroad, widened my range of interests. Although studies remained prominent, my interests increased as a result of Denison's concerted effort to increase social alternatives. I have probably learned as much from the convocations, common hours, films, Black Arts Festivals, lecture series, theater and dance productions, and other Denison productions as I have learned in the classroom.

Senior year arrives unexpectedly. For probably the first time, seniors will realize the transience of college life. Most importantly, senior year marks the recognition of the full effects of a Denison liberal arts education. The interest, sincerity, and availability of the faculty, administration, and Career Development Center become most apparent and needed when seniors begin choosing new careers and graduate programs.

Supported by an excellent, vigorous, and hard-working staff, I have served the Denison community through the publishing of the following annual. The effort remains as thanks to the faculty, administration, and community which have positively shaped my expectations and thinking. Along with my fellow classmates, most importantly, I intend to continue my service to Denison as an active alumnus. I have come to realize that an active role as an alumnus both assures the continuation of the Denison tradition and rewards Denison for four fun, scholastic, and co-curricular years.

My two years at Denison have been a time of self-contemplation and maturation. I have been exposed to new ways of thinking, analyzing, and evaluating. I have developed a new perspective. I think that this is due to the opportunities and freedoms that a liberal arts education gives to a student: he/she not only grows intellectually, but socially. We are encouraged to test our limitations and "find ourselves." Not just as a student. Such an attitude toward education has encouraged me to look back on my college experience as it grows and for which it is — a time of growth and learning.

My role in the publication of this yearbook has helped me to realize the richness of life at Denison via my viewing of it all aspects. I have seen, through the eyes of others, what Denison means to them. This book is a tribute to Denison, and the people which it serves.

My freshman year at Denison has been very rewarding and a lot of fun, but, as every Denison student knows, a lot of work. My extra involvement and leadership in campus organizations have enriched my Denison experience a great deal and will continue to make my four years at Denison even better. As an entering freshman, I had great expectations of Denison. In my freshman year alone, Denison has more than lived up to those expectations.

My four years at Denison have indeed been a rewarding and a learning experience, both academically and socially.

I have had the chance to interact with different types of people from different geographical areas. This interaction has broadened my understanding of other cultures than my own, and to some extent, has given me a greater appreciation and sensitivity to differences in people and their cultures.

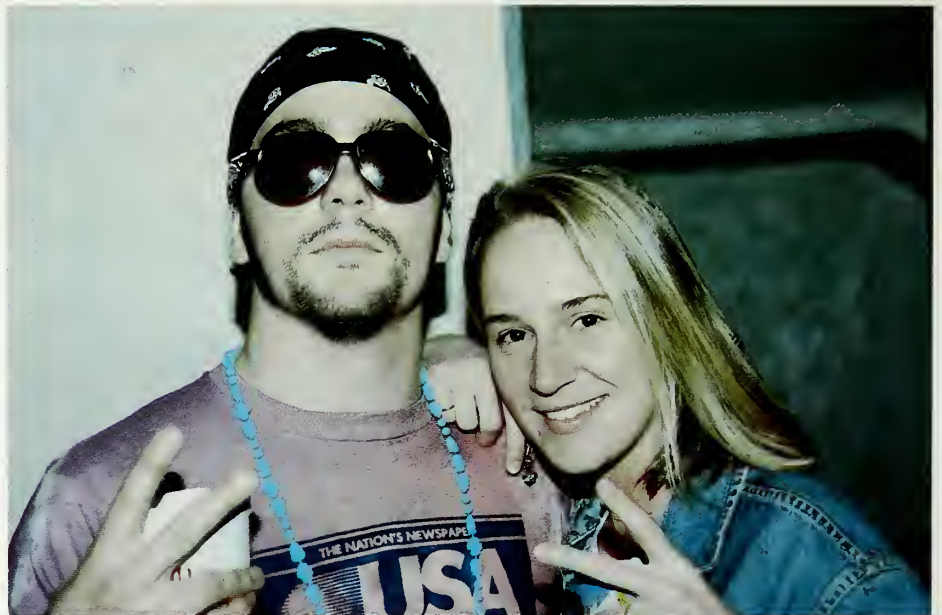

Academically, Denison has made me into a well-rounded person because of the general education requirements. By having such requirements, it has enabled me to enlighten myself in areas which I had little or no knowledge of before.

I will always remember my four years at Denison, and will hopefully utilize what I have learned in life.

DORMS ALTERNATIVE

GLOBAL STUDIES CENTER

The Global Studies Center is an alternative living dorm that is located on Fraternity Row Island. Formerly known as West Hall, this dorm served as an all-freshman dorm last year. The University desired to use this dorm in a more creative way, and the proposal for the Global Studies Center was born.

In order to live in the Global Studies Center, a student must express interest in international cultures, affairs, and living. He/she must fill out an application expressing such interests. He/she will participate in projects of international flavor. The Global Studies Center also serves as headquarters for DISA (Denson International Student Association).

DORMS LIVING

Black Cultural Center

Regina Roderick, Aaron Laramore, Mona Ross, David Block.

The Black Cultural Arts Center was designed in 1985 as an alternative to dorm living. Those students who wished to further their interests in Black Culture were encouraged to submit an application that explained a tentative project that would benefit not only their own personal interests, but that of the Center also. The students that live in the center live in an environment conducive to study, not only of their chosen project, but in an academic environment as well. Gilpatrick (as the Center was formerly known) is actually a house that housed women, and before that, was a President's dwelling. Now that family environment is used to study black musicians, family units, scholars, humanitarians, and many other worthwhile projects. One student, when asked how she liked living in The Center, replied: "I really like it a lot. It's just like family, all of us living in a real house instead of a dorm. You have a bedroom instead of a dorm room, and there is a living room and a kitchen, too. It's also nice to see that all of the students are seriously interested in their projects and that these projects further their understanding of themselves and the black experience."

MONOMOY

A NOTICE TO THE READER:

This page represents pages 33 through page 64 of the 1986 Adytum. Pages 33 through 64 would have contained a complete Greeks section, dorm candids, and other pictures. These pages were however lost in the mail. The pages were mailed in September of 1986 and not recovered until December 1986. They were mailed again by the Assistant Editor, who though advised to send the pages by insured mail failed to do so. The pages remain lost at the time of this writing.

The primary responsibility for this book lies with it's Editor in Chief who gave his duties to the Assistant Editor. The Assistant Editor did a great job, designing this book as you can see from the fine layout. She is currently editor in chief of the 1987 Adytum and is too busy with that book to work further on the 1986 Adytum. Therefore my responsibility for this book has been delegated to me Assistant Editor and Business Manager of the 1987 Adytum. I have decided to cancel the lost pages.

To the many who would pronounce judgement on my decision I have only this to say. Judge only if you wish to be judged and judge not another until you have walked in their shoes. Here then is a brief glance at my difficult position.

First, the 1986 Adytum will be over budget. The book faces increased printing costs because it is published in 1987 instead of 1986, and also face poor sales due to its late arrival on campus. Cutting the 32 pages has helped to make up for these deficits. Secondly, the materials were incomplete to allow a full coherent Greek section; we therefore chose to only provide a Greek section full of candids. Thirdly, I was a freshman on the staff when this book was produced. I feel little connection to the book. My only responsibility was to have been the senior message section editor, a responsibility that I fulfilled. I have worked hard on the Adytum and it has put a significant dent on both my academic and social life; a dent I cannot afford to let deepen.

I am sorry for the missing pages, however, I have to point out that this is still a very fine and respectable publication. I hope all will find this book along with the memories it conveys enjoyable.

Sincerely, David S. Lyons

The year appeared to be one for Denison controversy. Although a quad placard claimed that the 1960's were over, many would contend that some of the 1960's fervor had returned.

The Central American Task Force increased its visibility with more functions and an awareness week. The South African Awareness Group's activities were certainly the most visible. The plastic-covered shanty made of cardboard and used plywood strategically appeared shortly before the trustees were to consider divestment. The shanty, a purposefully ugly representation of living conditions for Black South Africans, aroused extreme controversy when the shanty remained toward the end of the semester. A thwarted attempt to burn the shanty, the heated Bullshead debate, and the appearance of a smaller structure (which was later destroyed) proclaiming "conservatism lives" and "Reagan is right" demonstrated the disdain of some Denison students. Undaunted by the negative feedback, SAAG continued the impressively attended demonstrations, yet relocated the shanty for graduation. Evangelist Brother Jed returned to Denison presenting his message to jeering crowds. Finally, Faye Wattleton, National President of Planned Parenthood, spoke to a packed Slayter audience while the Columbus Pro-Life group distributed vulgar and sensationalistic flyers outside.

ORGANIZATIONS

ADYTUM

The 1986 book has been completely revamped with the addition of more than twenty pages. With the expansion, the staff has been able to give more equitable attention to the various groups and activities at Denison. Perhaps the greatest improvement over recent books has been the inclusion of honor societies — groups which often get little attention. This book, also, has a new cover unique to the Denison annual. The insignia will, hopefully, be used in future books to maintain some continuity of style. The Adytum has been marked in the past by covers ranging from leather-bound to the purple and green of the 1960's.

As editor, my first priority was to increase the number of pictures in the book. Although at times it was difficult to obtain certain pictures, the staff has, contrary to past books, attempted to fill every space. Because of the recent increases in publishing costs, the staff was preoccupied with strict budgeting to avoid the perpetuation of past deficits.

This book is the result of a strong core staff. Often the work of the yearbook staff is underestimated. Because of the variability and of events and photography development, some of the staff were willing to put in eight hour days on weekends to meet production deadlines. The staff members include: Lisa Blumenthal (most instrumental during those marathon yearbook sessions with the Senior section and organizations), Amy McGrath (Greeks), Margaret Lee (Dorms and the plethora of typing), Jim Clemens (Budget and Business), David Lyons (Advertising), Nora Doyle (Theater), Tony Mastria (Abroad), and Jim Myers (last-minute layout). Photography was predominantly done by the above people and Heidi Morgan. Other photographers who were invaluable contributors were K.C. Campbell, Sarah Kausch, Liz O'Dair, Anne Dineen, and Anne Taylor. Also, to insure a wider range of people in the book, the staff solicited some pictures through mailers.

This book is a collection of the events and activities of the 1985-1986 year. A yearbook is both a historical account and a collection of memories. Hopefully, the staff has been successful in producing a book which serves this dual purpose.

THE BULLSHEET

Kate Owens, Tim Householder, Jill Kennedy, Carol Mason, Bob Combs

This was the best and worst year for the Bullsheat. First semester was dry; controversy was scarce — with the exception of the showing of "Deep Throat" — and consequently few Denisonians submitted letters. With the advent of January term, however, the 'Sheet began to serve the purpose it was designed for: to share ideas and promote community discussion and understanding. In the first month of 1986, the Denison Employees Organization wrote in to express their desire for a unionization of the supportive staff. Students, professors, and workers responded making this discussion the most inclusive community dialogue the Bullsheat has displayed.

The divestment issue, first brought up by the South African Awareness Group (SAAG), resulted in an avalanche of letters. When SAAG built a shanty on the quad and threatened not to remove it for graduation, more letters came — including some which were unsuitable for printing.

Another source of Bullsheat discussion was the political and military action in Libya. Also, Black students brought up their objections to racial oppression at Denison, citing isolated incidents. Other topics included the need for an honor code, Gay Awareness Week, and the anticipated ramifications of the change of legal drinking age from 19 to 21.

The Denisonian is a weekly newspaper which is responsible for bringing news and events to the attention of the entire Denison community. The newspaper provides an important link in campus communication. The staff of the Denisonian take pride in the fact that the Denisonian was published on a regular basis. This year's staff has also tried to improve the quality of the paper. The recent acquisition of an Apple McIntosh computer system will give even greater publishing abilities.

From the Editors

Students Hold the Key to Denison's Future

by C.E. McGinnis

I recently glanced at an issue of USA Today and found, to my surprise, that the newspaper had included a poll of college presidents concerning the rankings of American universities. I found that our own Denison was rated 5th in the category described as "Regional Liberal Arts Colleges." Certainly we of the Denison community can be proud of the fact that our institution was rated above such excellent rival colleges as Kenyon, Ohio Wesleyan and Case Western Reserve. However, do we as a community aspire to a higher goal? And if so, what is that goal and how do we as a campus, students, faculty and administrators, plan to achieve it?

President De Rocco, in last week's Denisonian, voiced his personal sentiments about the destiny of our institution. "We have the prospect," said the president "within five to ten years, of promoting Denison from the generally accepted position as a distinguished liberal arts college into a position where it will be acknowledged as a premier liberal arts college." All this sounds encouraging, yet words and visions are one thing, and action is quite another. Denison needs the goal of becoming the "premier liberal arts college" Andrew De Rocco speaks of, but what is imperative for the university is a clear solid plan to reach this goal by the early 1990's.

Such a plan must coordinate the efforts of faculty and administration, but most importantly, students. Although the administration must clearly enunciate the exact nature of any plan to move our college forward, without such a plan we simply have no direction; we as students are called to bear the major weight of its execution. Ultimately it is our future reputation which benefits from our present-day struggle to move the University forward, therefore it should be our paramount concern to spur this institution. Not for Andrew De Rocco. Not for the faculty. Not for Mom and Dad. But for ourselves and our future.

Denison Should Divest

by Jeffrey E. Smith

On many matters Denison students and faculty do not agree. However, during the past week, the Student Senate and faculty both agreed that Denison University should divest itself of those companies that have interests in South Africa. The Student Senate vote was unanimous and the faculty vote almost so. These actions and the efforts of the South African Awareness Group will hopefully pressure the Board of Trustees Investment Committee to begin divestment proceedings. Such action would be yet another signal for Washington to initiate its own sanctions.

To signal Washington, Denison would need only to divest itself of its stock investments. It would not be necessary to give up all capital goods produced by companies that have investments in South Africa (i.e. General Motors vehicles or I.B.M. office equipment). Denison University should not worry about making itself morally pure; it should worry about signalling Washington.

Washington's policies have not put the needed pressure on the South African government. 91 executives of major companies that do business in South Africa inserted full page advertisements in South African newspapers this past Sunday. These advertisements encourage putting an end to Apartheid. Washington must help with economic sanctions. Until some sanctions are imposed, the South African government will rebuff any nonthreatening scoldings, and the policies will display little or no change.

Apartheid has been the governance system in South Africa since the National party came into power in 1948. The political situation has grown progressively worse since the late 1970's and more than 700 people, mostly blacks, have died since violence erupted a year ago.

If the United States imposes economic sanctions on South Africa, the short term effect will be worsening conditions and increased unemployment for South Africans, including many blacks. However, such sanctions would hopefully induce the government to quickly end Apartheid.

DENISON FILM SOCIETY

The Denison Film Society is a fully student run organization whose main goal and purpose is to promote film as a form of art, culture, and entertainment. The Denison Film Society has begun to become part of the cultural atmosphere of the liberal arts education offered by Denison. There have been joint efforts on the part of the Film Society and the academic departments to bring films for the campus that can be incorporated into the intellectual setting of the classroom. Members of the Film Society enjoy numerous benefits from participating in the organization. Primarily our main enjoyment is derived from having a place and a time to be with people who enjoy the same art form of moving image. The Film Society provides a common ground where discussion on new and old film can be shared, talked about, and debated. Also, members of the Film Society share in the feeling that the organization plays a large part in the promotion of the intellectual and entertainment side of the art form.

DENISON LECTURE SERIES

The Denison Lecture Series (DLS) is a student-run committee which solicits speakers for the Denison campus and community. The Lecture Series generally brings four speakers to Denison each semester. These speakers include prominent authorities in all fields — government, business, science, mass media, and sports. Speakers for the 1985-86 year included Dumisani Kamalo, Stephen Cohen, John S. Reed, Mark Littman, Frank Ogden, Christopher Hitchens, Alvin Pousant, and Jerry Parr.

EXILE

Jennie Dawes, Karen Koch, Carol Mason, Betsy Oster, Debra Benko, Bruce Pedretti, Jeff Masten

Exile, Denison's literary magazine, appears in its thirty-fourth volume in the Spring. Unique to Denison's campus, Exile provides a forum for students to present their original artworks, poetry, and prose for the enjoyment of their peers. All material presented in Exile is chosen and compiled by an editorial board composed solely of students; these editors attempt to include a representative cross-section of the creative material that is produced at Denison. Exile usually prints a Fall volume and a Spring volume each year.

WOMEN'S EMPHASIS

The goal of Women's Emphasis is to establish and promote the potential equality of all persons. In order to work towards this goal, the group coordinates programs and organizations in the Denison community which relate to the issues and concerns of women. Their activities include running a Women's Resource Center which is open to everyone, planning and supporting Women's Week, and attending conferences on women's issues in the surrounding area.

DENISON COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

Paige McVay, Marty Donaldson, Tracy Snell, Irene Kennedy, Pete Warlick, Dave Kuentz, Robin Althouse, Andy Schoelkopf

The Denison Community Association (DCA) is a dynamic volunteer organization that allows its members the opportunity to develop an active awareness of the varying social conditions that exist in the world beyond campus life. With over 20 committees, DCA serves people who, due to physical or mental disabilities, financial hardships or loneliness need companionship or assistance. Committees vary from visiting a ward in a psychiatric hospital to becoming a Big Brother/Sister for a junior high school student, teaching swimming, and tutoring. Some of this year's activities include an auction to raise money for the Hospice Organization, a carnation sale, a canned food drive, and a Spring clothes drive.

HUNSBERGER MEMORIAL INVESTMENT CLUB

The Hunsberger Memorial Investment Club was established in 1966 by friends and family of Harry A. Hunsberger, Jr., an economics major. Its purpose is to provide investment experience for Denison students. The fund, which stands at more than $15,000, is managed by students and serves as a learning experience in investment. Investments may be made in the form of stocks, bonds, debentures, warrants, rights, and similar securities. The fund is administered by the faculty of the economics department, but its operation is managed exclusively by students.

DENISON ENTREPRENEUR SOCIETY

Bryan Williams, Peter McConnell, Peter Cooke, Beth Cooke, Chuck Catt

The Denison Entrepreneurs Society has been attempting to "improve the art of leadership" since 1984. Kicking off the 1985-86 academic year, motivational speaker and businessman Jim Christenson addressed members. Cable television pioneer Ted Turner was at Denison to receive the Honorary Entrepreneur Award. The Society then sponsored two seminars on starting a small business. The main emphasis of the Society is to teach leadership skills through hands-on experience. This has been done through numerous fund raising attempts, instructional sessions, and correspondence with over 75 influential entrepreneurs across the country.

SUNDAY NIGHT GROUP

The Sunday Night Group meets weekly for dinner and discussion. The Purpose of the group is to promote intellectual discussions in relaxed atmosphere. Topics of discussion have included Nicaragua, the Soviet Union, and the history of Denison.

The Denison Ultimate Frisbee Club, a newly formed team, is becoming more structured and athletically demanding. They have bi-weekly intercollegiate games with other ultimate teams from the surrounding Ohio/Kentucky area. The goal of the Ultimate Frisbee Club is to learn the fundamentals of the game through practice and games in a relaxed but competitive atmosphere. The only membership requirements are enthusiasm and a willingness to enjoy the sport and take it seriously.

WDUB also provides special monthly discussions on "hot" campus issues as well as a weekly sportsline to keep the community informed. WDUB serves the Newark and Granville area and is devoted to community service. The station is student-run and is comprised of a staff of sixty fun-loving and good-natured human beings. WDUB's wildly fluctuating personalities and great music have truly become a part of the "Denison Experience." — Dave Leonard.

GLAD

Gay and Lesbian Advocates at Denison (GLAD) is a community organization now in its third year. The group's steering committee was comprised of Ilane Mathews, Kathy Lewis, Teresa Woodward, Donna Lawson, and faculty advisor Lee Bostian. Along with a series of residence hall presentations, the group organized the second annual Gay Awareness Week which brought theologian Carter Heyward and the award winning film The Time of Harvey Milk to the Denison campus. The group continues to grow, gain support, and promote campus awareness of gay and lesbian issues.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) is the primary governing organization for the entire fraternity system at Denison. The IFC includes five executive officers, elected by the council of the previous year, the president, and a representative from each house. The council meets on a weekly basis to discuss, evaluate, and improve upon the strong fraternity system that exists on campus.

DENISON ORGANIZATION OF ECONOMIC STUDENTS

Denison Organization of Economic Students (DOES) was organized by economic majors in search of alternative methods of exploring the discipline of economics. DOES gives students the opportunity to apply what is learned in the classroom to the real world. In addition, DOES provides an opportunity for increased student and faculty interaction. DOES has sponsored several films concerning the economic implications of world events such as the situation in South Africa. DOES has also sponsored a lecture by Phil Christenson, head of staff for the Senate Sub-Committee on African Affairs.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The Panhellenic Council serves as the governing body of the sorority system. The council is comprised of a president, vice-president, secretary/treasurer, and two representatives from each sorority. Panhel organizes sorority rush and establishes the rules and policies in accordance with National Panhellenic Council and the university. As a collective body, Panhel establishes goals that will further enhance good communication within the Greek system and provide greater awareness of the wide variety of activities in which Greeks are involved.

SENIOR INTERVIEWERS

Senior Interviewers function as part-time members of the professional admissions staff. The Denison admissions office is one of only a few colleges to utilize students in such a manner. Their duties include personal interviews with prospective students and participation in receptions and special programs.

Front row: Cindy Heller, Amy Miller, Sue Armacost, Kim Buono, Julie Gillespie, Katie Bowman, George Trapp, Second row: Brady Douthett, Jean Goldstein, Kim Weisman, Linda Pattee, Susan Tetzlaff, Nicole Durriz, Third row: Rhonda Watson, Karl Fingerhood, Brenda Hough, Nancy Brown, Karen Wright, Fourth row: Liz O'Dair, President Andrew DeRocco, Jennifer Ogden, Josh Rodefer, John Hong, Craig Colby, Dana Washington, Jeff Forbes, Scott Halliday, Mark Pyper

Tour Guides are responsible for showing prospective students and their parents the Denison campus. Tours include a dorm visit and an extensive overview of the academic facilities. During a tour, the guide presents information about all facets of the Denison Experience.

THE KING'S FELLOWSHIP

The King's Fellowship at Denison is a dynamic, non-denominational Christian student group that encourages and strengthens Christians on Denison's campus. When many students think of Christianity, they think of staid traditions and concepts that have been outdated by science and modern thinking. The King's Fellowship wishes to present Christianity as an attractive, intellectually viable lifestyle to help Christian students grow in their faith.

CHAPEL ADVISORY BOARD

The Chapel Advisory Board assists the Dean of Religious Life in developing a program of educational Christian chapel services. The board also aids in organizing campus-wide events on social and ethical issues. In addition, board members strive to promote ideas which add to the moral and intellectual development of the Denison community. The board sponsors weekly chapel services, a fast for Oxfam, and a self-help crafts fair in which the items sold are produced by Third World Countries — all proceeds going to the countries involved.

IFC SECURITY

IFC security is a group whose purpose is to check ID's and maintain order at fraternity parties. The security monitors are responsible for keeping a count of how many people are inside each house, and to make sure that the parties are trouble free. This goal is best expressed by the motto on the back of their t-shirts that say "Don't be bad."

DENISON SKEET SHOOTING CLUB

The goals of the Denison Skeet Shooting Club are to create and sustain a competitive team, promote the sportsmanship associated with the sport, and teach gun handling safety to both experienced and inexperienced shooters. The club practices together in Zanesville, Ohio and competes in meets against other colleges. The skeet shooting club also sponsors its own invitational tournament.

SIGMA DELTA PI

The purposes of the national organization of Sigma Delta Pi are "to promote a wide knowledge of and a greater love for the Hispanic contributions to modern culture; to provide a nucleus for Spanish language student activities and regional meetings, to foster friendly relations and the cooperative spirit between the nations of Hispanic speech and of English speech, and to reward those who show special attainments and interests." The spirit of the organization is dedicated by the Greek motto, the initial letters of which are used as its name: "Let us go forward under the inspiration of Spain or of the Hispanic ideal."

Mortar Board is a national honor society of college seniors. The society recognizes in its membership the qualities of superior scholastic ability, outstanding and continual demonstration of leadership, and dedicated service to the university or the community. The Mortar Board tradition at Denison is to tap new members during a regularly scheduled class in which the student is enrolled. Because of Mortar Board's commitment to academic excellence, the classroom seems to be the most appropriate place for announcing the honor. Activities include coordinating the mentor/mentee program for freshman honor students, ushering for convocations, and hosting receptions for guest speakers.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Amy Greenstein, Laura Finch, Paula Scott, Tim Talty. At Right: Jim Myers, Ricky Sandy

Omicron Delta Kappa is a leadership honorary society which recognizes leaders in various academic and extracurricular areas. ODK's activities include sponsoring a leadership symposium composed of a parent panel discussing and answering questions about their jobs and the leadership skills they use, and presenting the ODK Robert Morlan Award for outstanding student leadership at Denison. ODK, as shown in these pictures, meets informally at faculty houses for dinner discussions.

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

Alpha Epsilon Delta is an international pre-medical honor society. Membership is based on academics, general ability, and character. The purpose of the organization is to encourage excellence in pre-medical scholarship, to stimulate an appreciation of pre-medical education, and to promote contact between pre-medical and medical educators and students. Activities this year include the co-sponsoring of the annual bio-chem softball game, bringing in a physician to speak on the changes occurring in medicine, and initiating a round table discussion on medical school admissions.

CROSSED KEYS

Crossed Keys is a junior honor society based on service to Denison and the local community. Membership is based on active participation in service and leadership positions, commitment to helping others, and encouragement of service projects pursued by others. Some activities include the annual Faculty Leadership Award, presented this year to Dr. Annette Cash, and canned food drives to benefit the needy.

PI SIGMA ALPHA POLITICAL SCIENCE HONORARY

Pi Sigma Alpha is the political science national honor society. The group is made up of students who have met grade and course requirements within the political science department. Activities include sponsoring speakers, engaging in group discussions, and hosting the departmental picnic.

PSI CHI PSYCHOLOGY HONORARY

Front row: Anne Dineen, Lynda Misali, Amy Greenstein, Dave Kuentz, Second row: Hugh Campbell, Jim Myers, Sue Streiff, Susan Miller, Arthur Jackson, Ricky Sandy.

Psi Chi is the national honor society in psychology. Psi Chi offers a means for the voices of the students in psychology to be heard and their contributions to be felt. The organization's major purpose is to advance the science of psychology and to encourage, stimulate, and maintain scholarship of the individual members in all fields. The Denison chapter of Psi Chi has undertaken projects to provide career information to majors and has organized a speaker program for the psychology department.

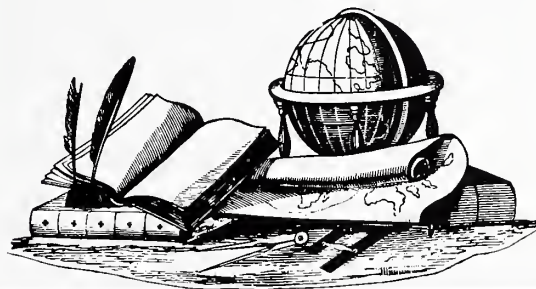

Debbie Benko, Paige McVay, Doug Peabody, Kevin Barnard, Traci Reed

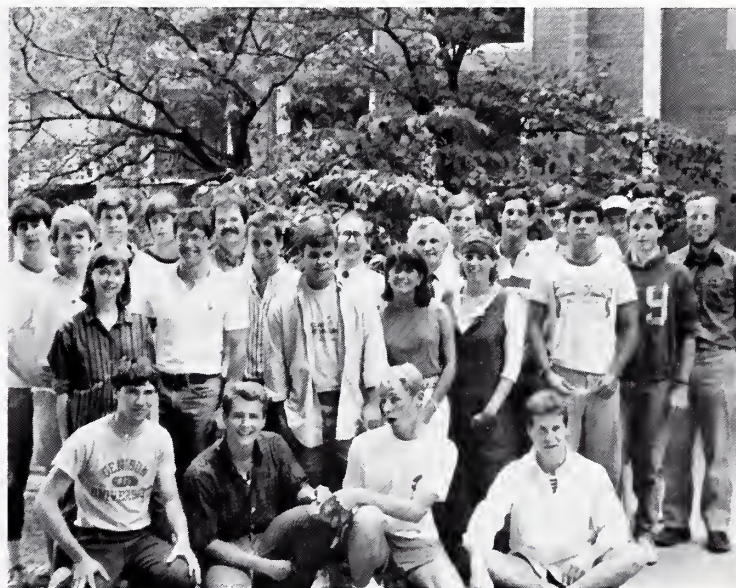

HISTORY COUNCIL

The History Council is a group whose purpose is to act as a liaison between the history department faculty and the majors and minors. The activities this year include sponsoring three lectures where the following people spoke; Robert Riley, John Merritran, and Mark Dalton.

C.L. HERRICK GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

The C.L. Herrick Geological Society was founded in 1907 in honor of the late C.L. Herrick and is open to all Denison geology majors. The goals of the society are to broaden the geological horizons and encourage unity among the majors. The Geological Society has periodic meetings in which field trips and other geologic excursions are planned. The society invites guest speakers from other universities and from the corporate sector to lecture at Denison. The Society also sponsors departmental gatherings.

"... the cast of Cloud 9 is probably the most talented ensemble of actors here at Denison ... (Bruce) Pedretti turned in a very good performance; he seemed more natural in this part than his previous performances ... most importantly, he showed outstanding control of character, and played with great sensitivity." David Zivan, Denisonian, May 1

"The theatre has given me a chance not only to live my own life but a million others. In every play there is a chance for one great moment experience or understanding."

"I enjoyed nearly every aspect of the production . . . I never could imagine how wonderful the accompanying music (Chopin) might be and its importance to the feel of the Acts . . . and to the people involved in the performance of The Pelican, I commend them with a smile as big as the moon." Rob Cross, Denisonian, April 10

"The chemistry between the cast members was a great asset to the production — they seemed to be having a good time, and so was the audience. Crimes of the Heart marked several Denison stage debuts, all of them promising." David Zivan, Denisonian, October 31

"The two are competing at more than just a game of cards. The game they play is, in actuality, an emotional boxing match. Each person tries to jab the soft spots of the other's past and point out sensitive failures . . . Both Len Downs and Marilyn Sundin performed admirably in their respective portrayals of Weller Martin and Fonsia Dorsey." Warwick Carter and Liz McCarthy, Denisonian, February 14 (The Gin Game)

"Bradford Cover — another in the long line of first-year thespians to make successful debuts this season — exudes presence in his portrayal of Dodge . . . His considerable vocal range and malleable visage capture our attention in the opening moments and sustain our interest until his death."
 "If you go to Buried Child for an evening of light theatre, you will be profoundly disappointed. You may laugh, but it will be tense, nervous laughter. Buried Child is another ambitious Zvanut production, and he is clearly quite successful." Jeff Master and David Zivan, Denisonian, November 21

DENISON STUDENTS TRAVEL THE GLOBE

Denison University students oftentimes seek to expand their academic and personal horizons by extending their studies to foreign countries. Whether this foreign travel occurs during January term or with an exchange program with another university, these students feel that the experience is an invaluable learning experience. They learn about people, culture, and life in their travels.

This year, there was an interesting kaleidoscope of countries that Denison students chose to visit. While Kerry Kennedy and Kelley Dod roughed it in a semester at sea, Sue Bryant and Ruth Kiniska took in the sights of London. Jessica Skelly conducted a sociological (senior research) study in Ireland while Anne Frey worked with her "family" in Kenya. Woody Hudson fell in love with Paris, the city of love, while Che-Che Rohrig and Heide Morgan soaked in China and Hong Kong (Heide also conducted an oil survey).

All of these students contribute to a more international flavor at Denison, along with the foreign students that represent many different countries. It is interesting to walk on the quad and hear Norwegian, Swedish, Spanish, French, German, or one of many foreign languages on the quad. DISA encourages all of us to share in such international experiences. Although it is true that Denison is its own little world, the many international influences on campus serve to make it complete.

JESSICA SKELLY SAYS "FAILTE"!

My decision to attend Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland, proved to be the most exciting and challenging period in my undergraduate career. Located in the center of Ireland's most bustling metropolis, the experience of living in a foreign city was indeed a welcomed change. The criterion for choosing this specific Abroad program was largely reflective of my own personal history, coupled with the goals I had set for my academic achievement. Undoubtedly, the reputation of a prestigious institution such as Trinity, offered the intellectual rigor and provided an opportunity to study with students who had had a different orientation to the same discipline of anthropology and sociology. My foremost reason for choosing Ireland was because of my own "Irish roots." I have long been interested in my own Irish ancestry, and living in Ireland made the prospect of exploring this history most fascinating. The weekend visits to the west coast, Co. Mayo, were always times when family friends made Ireland seem like home. In that time in rural Ireland I saw the most spectacular landscape — still reminiscent of a tragic history of invasions and exploitation. The beauty of Ireland was overwhelming to both the spirit and the senses. Ireland, the Land of Saints and Scholars, also provided the opportunity to embark upon my Senior Research. Specifically, I wanted to understand how the modern Irish Social movement, embodied in the Republican Sinn Féin Party, resembled, if at all, the struggles of history. How different are today's leaders in their goal orientation and means of achieving social change than the martyrs of yesterday... Living in Ireland for a full year was a time to get my feet wet by actually doing "field work." The opportunity to live in and amongst a different group of people, to share in their culture, and to be open to challenges unknown, was by far the most rewarding "sociocultural" moment in my life.

— Jessica Skelly, '86

ANNE FREY IN KENYA

The St. Lawrence University program in Kenya consisted of a great deal of learning and personal challenges, but the first week was, in many ways, the most challenging. After spending only twenty-four hours in Nairobi, which looks much like any other western city, we were packed into a truck and driven to a rural area in western Kenya, where we would spend our first week. Forty-eight hours after landing in Kenya, I was walking down a mud path with my "brothers" and "mother," who was carrying our groceries on her head in a large basket.

Within thirty minutes, I was home. My home was a cement house with a tin roof. Many of the homes around us were mud houses with thatched roofs, the former being a bit of a status symbol, the latter being practical.

I spent the first day wandering around in a state of shock. I felt as if I had walked into a National Geographic. Cows, chickens, and sheep were all walking around outside my bedroom window. There were also women with baskets of food or buckets of water precariously balanced on their heads, people working on their farms with hand tools. At the same time, there were people talking of work in western clothing and yes, even Madonna on the radio.

Within the seven days, I went to the market, made ugali (a Kenyan staple), helped kill a chicken for dinner, cabbaged corn for flour, went to school with my "mother," and taught classes. "How big is your farm?" one student asked. "how do you tell him that your 'farm' is a yard filled with flowers? I learned how to eat sugar cane, swept the dirt behind our house, and played with my "brothers" and "sisters."

By the time I felt I no longer felt like I had participated in the life of National Geographic, but rather had lived and shared with people who, although have a different culture, have many of the same fears, problems, and questions that I do. As I was leaving, I wondered how I could possibly explain to people that the way of life for a rural western Kenyan is "normal," not exotic or exciting as one may perceive from magazines and advertisements.

—Anne Frey

WOODY HUDSON FALLS IN LOVE WITH PARIS

Studying in Paris was one of the greatest experiences of my Denison career. Studying abroad gave me the opportunity to take challenging courses not offered at Denison and to improve my language skills at the same time. My time in Paris was well spent. Between my classes and study there was still plenty of time to explore the picturesque streets of Paris, or relax in a cafe and have a cold Heineken. Instead of simply going to Paris and meeting only American students, I took the opportunity to get involved with school activities and meet French students. I joined the Rugby team and travelled around much of France with my newfound friends. I also learned where all the good bars and cafes were, which usually remain unknown to tourists. One day soon I plan to return to Paris and visit my friends and the beautiful city which I came to love.

— Woody Hudson

HEIDE MORGAN AND CHE-CHE ROHRIG INTERN IN THE ORIENT

I did an internship in Hong Kong for my January term. I conducted a study for an oil company. This study entailed travelling to Guangzhou, China to interview some customers of the oil firm. China is an extremely fascinating country with a completely different lifestyle.

While in Hong Kong, I saw Che-Che Rohrig, who lived there for a year and attended the Chinese University of Hong Kong. This was a wonderful experience for Che-Che; she has the opportunity to travel to China, Thailand, and Taiwan. Che-Che and I had a great time — Hong Kong is such an exciting city.

✧The Prep✧

THE EARLY
PREPS

VERILY the prep is fearfully and wonderfully made. He cometh to us in the fall of the year clad in homespun and blue jeans and wearing a hat which has been handed down, down, yea, even from generation to generation. He cometh from Lost Run and Smithkin's Creek, even from the uttermost parts of the earth. Verily, on the mighty steam car cometh he, and is soon encompassed round about by divers men who extend to him the glad hand and would remove the dirt from his fine linen and advise him where he can find shelter and wherewithal he may be fed. He goeth on the hill to chapel and is awed by the sight of various dignitaries* who occupy back seats and clap their hands with joy at his appearance. He wondereth much and gapeth wide at the semi-circle of mighty men which sitteth in a high place, and he is charmed by the sweet music of the chapel choir and the winsome smiles of bewitching maidens. He registereth and investeth much money in books and payeth nominal fees to divers and sundry organizations and at night lieth down dead broke and dreameth of far away pasture fields and familiar scenes in the land of his birth.

He riseth up early in the morning and remaineth up late at night, that he may throw water from his window upon his brethren below. He visiteth the Sem and is guyed by the maidens, forsooth he is much guyed. But in time he becometh a man of society and maketh a mash, and is envied by many. And lo! when spring appeareth he cometh forth in an ice cream suit and tan shoes, and sporteth, and he learneth many and various things not mentioned in the good book. And in due season he graduateth from the Academy and becometh a college man and looketh down on preps even as other college men looked down on him in years gone by. And finally a college Senior becometh he, and a mighty man, but alas, he graduateth and is never heard from more. Even so, Selah.

A PIECE OF ADYTUM'S HISTORY

"THAT JUNIOR LOVE AFFAIR."

Adytum the innermost sanctuary or shrine in ancient temples which was open only to priests and from which oracles were given, a private chamber.
/ˈædɪtəm/

The Adytum first appeared in 1882 as the product of six fraternity men, three from each of the local chapters of Sigma Chi and Beta Theta Pi. Because of financial insecurity the Adytum did not become an annual until 1899. The second book published in 1888 was the product of five members of Phi Gamma Delta. The next publications were issued in 1893, 1897, and finally from 1899 to the present.

The Adytum, as the 1911 staff admits, "has always been more or less of a joker." From the pasted-in photographs and steel engravings to the brilliantly clashing colors of later editions, humor aimed at Denison relationships, faculty, and students has characterized the Adytums. And early Adytum staff writes:

"The College choir with dreadful doles
In vain attempts to lift our souls
Its wheezy singing makes us sad,
Its awful howling makes us mad."

The "ironygraph" section, playful stabs at faculty and humorous caricatures of students have disappeared. The following pages remind us of the playful humor which makes a publication lively. As the present Adytum has occasionally done, perhaps future staffs should return to our predecessors' entertaining approach to the year.

Method of Inflicting Corporal Punishment upon Incurable Preps.

History of the Academy Classes.

The "Prep" has long been the playful target of past staffs. The cartoon and "Prep" definition on the facing page appeared in the 1897 Adytum. Clockwise, the remaining photographs appeared in the 1908, 1946, 1946, and 1891 Adytums. The 1891 cartoon on this page preceded an article describing Preps "as queer animals" which are "pretty nice — sometimes."

Schemer's Official Guide.

College Cemetery—Good for one or two-hour sessions. Famous for the monument with one secluded side.

The Stile—Prof. Herrick's contribution to the Seminary Course.

The Proposal Tree—A fitting climax.

EARLY DENISON RELATIONSHIPS

The above pictures are five of the ten photographs in the 1905 Adytum's "Official, Schemer's Guide." The Guide pointed out the safe places where men and women could sneak a little seclusion. One wonders where a 1986 version would suggest — the stacks in the library, bike path, or Swasey basement? The 1891 annual recognized the "Married Men's Mutual Aid Association," in the organizations section, while the Book Reviews describing the "Art of Flirtation" appeared in the 1902 Adytum. The caricatures on the facing page showed the stereotypical transformation of the college student (Adytum, 1900). Early annuals often depicted freshmen as country hicks or diapered infants.

Book Reviews

THE ART OF FLIRTATION, by Fred Moore and Another. This is a breezy little book well worth reading. The authors have treated the subject in a most charming manner, and have even added circumstance, from their own personal experience for the benefit of the reader. Chapel bucking is advised as an aid to flirtation. At this delightful period quiet descends upon the chapel Hill; all those awful boys are absent and the silence is broken only by the hoarse croak of Dick's grand solo grating o'er the airy zephyrs. This, then, is the ideal time for sparking.

Charles Lampson, of Toledo, says: "I have read the book and consider it a masterpiece in modern literature. The methods are thoroughly reliable."

HOW TO SCHEME, by E. S. Ashbrook. Mr. Ashbrook is certainly well fitted to write such a work. He is an extremely conservative person in the realm of literature and never makes a statement the truth of which he has not abundantly tested. The book deals with fact. There is not a citizen of Granville or Pataskala who is not willing to certify to the actual occurrence of every circumstance mentioned. Mr. Ashbrook advocates scheming upon the streets of the town in order to escape all excessive comment. The young lady should walk down one side of the business block, the young gentleman down the other; the two should meet in front of the postoffice in order to attract as little attention as possible. They should then walk up and down every street in succession and finally part lovingly on some shady corner.

Mr. Ed Cherney, of Cleveland, is a great admirer of the above work. Mr. Cherney sighs, however, "For the green lanes of the country." For further information address, W. H. Johnson, Granville, Ohio.

To The Class of 1986 — A Dedication

Hold On To The Moments

*Single file and yet together
We have shared our greatest days
And we carry common memories
In different ways
Though we don't know where we're going
We will cherish where we've been
I want to cry
I want to shout
I want to let this feeling out . . .*

*Hold on to the moments
Let the feelings show
Hold on to the moment
Never let it go.*

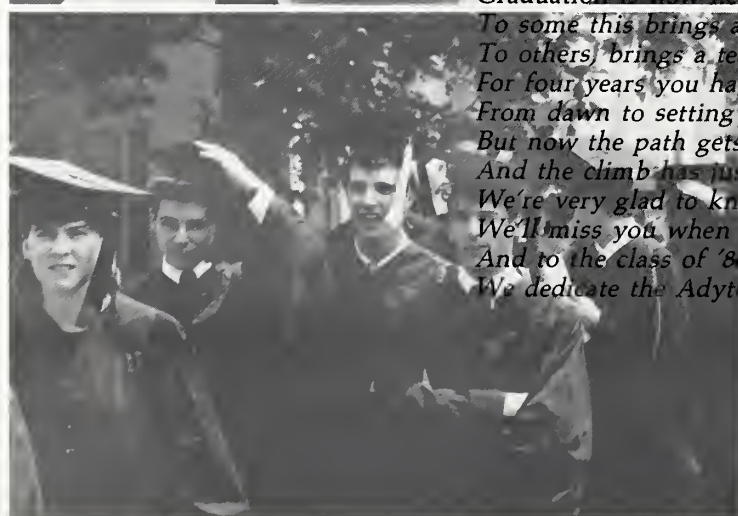

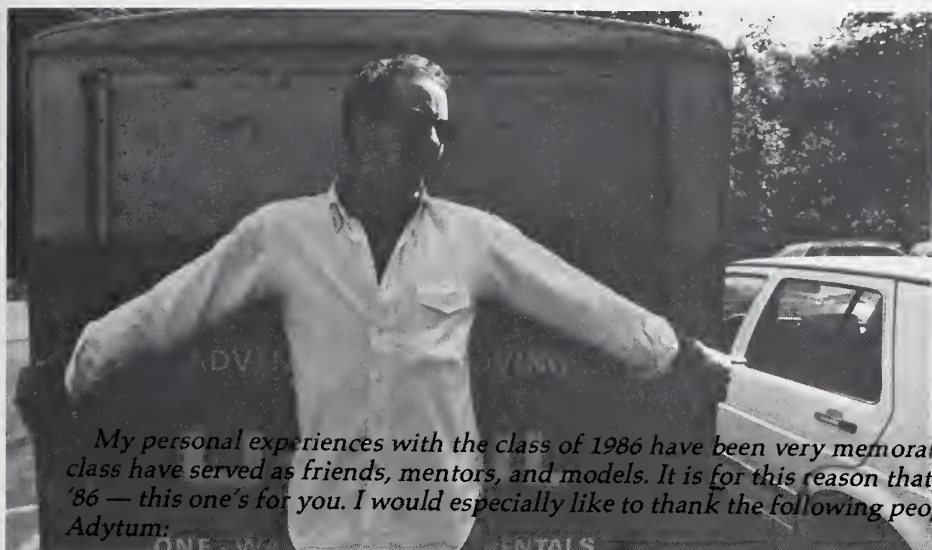

*I can picture us together
With our arms around our friends
Just let us hold on to this moment
Before it ends
There was laughter, there were tears
Through the four great golden years
I want to cry
I want to shout
I want to let this feeling out . . .*

*Hold on to the moment
Let the feelings show
Hold on to the moment
Never let it go.*

*Another year goes passing by Graduation is now here
To some this brings a joyous smile
To others brings a tear
For four years you have tread a path
From dawn to setting sun
But now the path gets steeper
And the climb has just begun
We're very glad to know you
We'll miss you when you've gone
And to the class of '86
We dedicate the Adytum.*

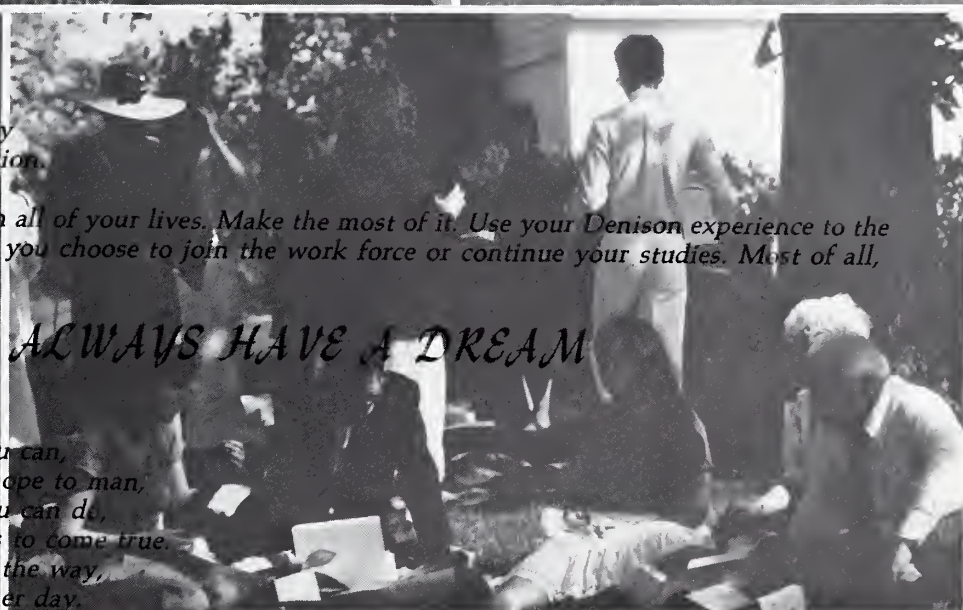

My personal experiences with the class of 1986 have been very memorable ones indeed. The members of this class have served as friends, mentors, and models. It is for this reason that I dedicate this Adytum to the class of '86 — this one's for you. I would especially like to thank the following people for their great contributions to the Adytum:

to Rod — for his patience to Lisa — for her perseverance to Nora — for her artistry to Jim — for his financial wizardry and to Margaret — for her dedication.

This year has been a milestone in all of your lives. Make the most of it. Use your Denison experience to the great advantage that it is, whether you choose to join the work force or continue your studies. Most of all,

ALWAYS HAVE A DREAM

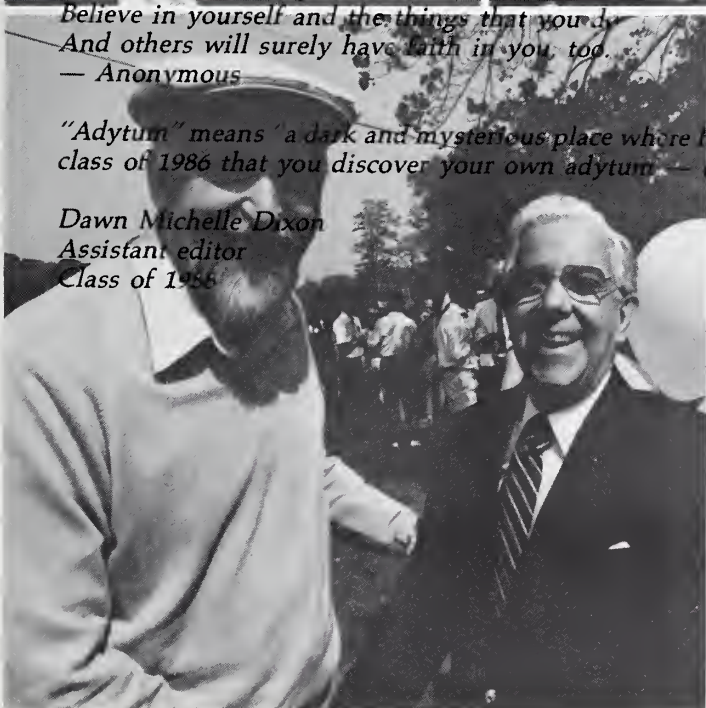

Capture a dream for as long as you can,
For dreams of the future provide hope to man,
Setting no boundaries for what you can do,
Reaching so high for those dreams to come true.
But if you should fall while along the way,
Just pick yourself up to face another day.

Believe in yourself and the things that you do.
And others will surely have faith in you, too.

— Anonymous

"Adytum" means "a dark and mysterious place where hidden treasures are found." It is my utmost wish for the class of 1986 that you discover your own adytum — within yourselves.

Dawn Michelle Dixon
Assistant editor

COMMENCEMENT

DENISON UNIVERSITY

GRANVILLE, OHIO

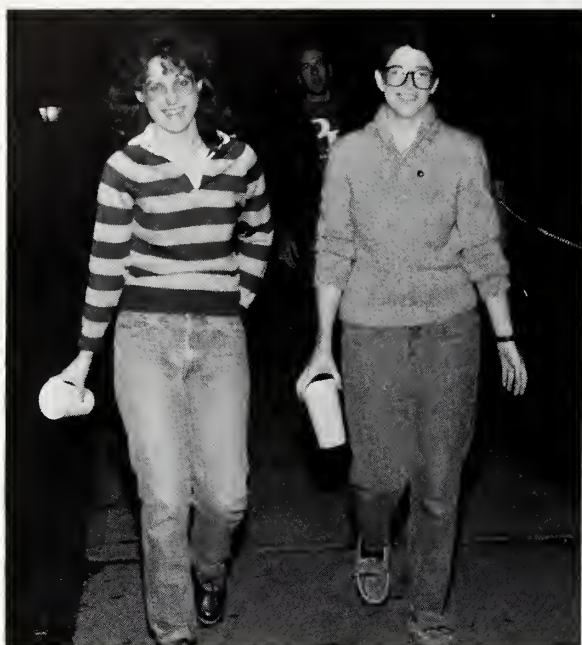

*We all love,
love Denison
Now we must go,
the future
is waiting for everyone.
— The Future is Waiting
Thaddeus T. Winston, '86*

REMEMBERING . . .

*We join together
in celebration of both our past
and our future.
Together we have shared
the joys and tears
Together we face
the future.
— Stephen A. Mortinger '86*

SENIORS 1986

SONG OF MYSELF

*The past and present wilt . . .
I have fill'd them,
emptied them,
And proceed to fill
my next fold
of the future.
Walt Whitman*

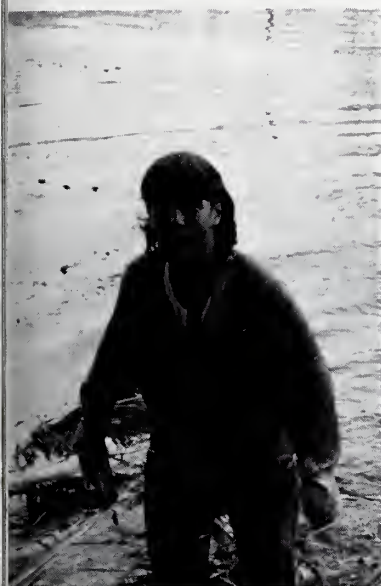

*Do you know
Where you're going to?
Do you like the things
That life is showing you?
Where are you going to?
Do you know?
Do you know
What you're hoping for?
When you look behind
you
There's no open door . . .
What are you hoping for?
Do you know?*

The Adytum would like to thank Public Affairs for their continued efforts to help our staff. Additionally, Florence Hoffman, University Archivist, is to be commended for her suggestions and assistance in locating photographs for the history section. The staff expresses appreciation to Len MacLehose for his willingness to assist us in securing the much-needed new furniture for our office.

To My Son Jerome — with love, with pride, with joy, Mom

In the time of your life, live — so that in that good time there shall be no ugliness or death for yourself or for any life your life touches. Seek goodness everywhere, and when it is found, bring it out of its hiding place and let it be free and unashamed. Place in matter and in flesh the least of the values, for these are the things that hold death and must pass away . . . Encourage virtue in whatever heart it may have been driven into secrecy and sorrow by the shame and terror of the world. Ignore the obvious, for it is unworthy of the clear eye and the kindly heart. Be the inferior of no man, nor of any man be the superior. Remember that every man is a variation of yourself. No man's guilt is not yours, nor is any man's innocence a thing apart. Despise evil and ungodliness, but not men of ungodliness or evil. These, understand . . . In the time of your life, live — so that in that in that wondrous time you shall not add to the misery and sorrow of the world, but shall smile to the infinite delight and mystery of it.

"A Family Portrait"

To my son Kirk:

Some musings from your mom on your college graduation. Feigned humility's not one of my strong suits, especially on this happy albeit hallowed occasion. So bear with me on this one. It's time for some verbal bouquets. The journey from Southmoor Jr. High on Columbus' south side to scholarships at Swathmore and Denison is testimony of your tenacity, pluck and Vision. You, my boy, have made us all look good. You don't have to be great to do good thing but to do great things you have to be good.

Your decision to major in Economics reveals an inherited instinct for commerce and finance. Edward Lloyd, your Welsh grandmother and founder of Lloyd's of London three hundred years ago, certainly made an impact on trade and trust. But, financial success will not be necessary for health, happiness or a comfortable sense of who you are. Rather you boldly go into the world with the knowledge that the world cannot give you anything, you must try to give something to it. You don't owe life anything but your best.

Your musical talent and bent probably comes from your farther Toribio's people, The Villaloboz family. Brazilian composer Heitor Villa-Lobos was an awesome standard-bearer, a brilliant innovator of style and sound. It is hoped your group Abraxas, with your brother Derek an drummer, will break free through the staleness of modern music and emerge with some creative notes of your own. Keep music in your life. It brings a happy balance, an ethereal intangible to the tangible. If you're going, go where no one else has been.

Summing up, take time to do nothing. Don't take life too seriously — it might take you to a place you don't want to be. Life is fraught with danger and delight but by the time we've got it all figured out it's time to quit. Accomplishment is a good thing but it is the pursuit that gives life its zing and zest.

I'll close by quoting something said to me a long time ago. To Wit: "Words just aren't big enough!" I find this as profound and elegant now as I did then. Lead with your heart son. The rest will follow. With abiding joy and everlasting pride in you —

... from the gracious elegance of Old Boston, to the torrid heat of St. Louis, to the racing sea battles off the coast of San Francisco, their triple passions propelled them across oceans and continents to separate affairs, perils and dangers. All men desired them, Duels were fought over them. Jewels were lavished upon them. Fate and scandal had thrown them together. They would rage against the truth their hearts could never deny ... that graduation alone could set them free.

To The Class Of 1986 New Friends And Old Friends

Make new friends but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test —
Time and change — are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray;
Friendship never knows decay.
For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we our youth renew.
But old friends, alas! may die;
New friends must their place supply;
Cherish friendship in your breast —
New is good, old is best;
Make new friends but keep the old,
Those are silver, these are gold.

SOME VERY CANDID
SENIOR PHOTOS

A Senior's Lament

My college days draw near their end.
Alas — too soon their course has run,
Too few the days I yet may spend
Amid these scenes of careless fun.

A Freshman green, four years ago,
I trembling climbed this classic mount,
Resolved all ancient lore to know,
To drink deep draughts at wisdom's fount.

In Sophomoric sport and revel
My second year passed idly by.
I smoked and drank and played the devil,
A reckless dashing blade was I.

My Junior year in careless bliss
I spent beneath Don Cupid's sway.
Full many a maiden I did kiss,
Full many a heart I stole away.

A Senior now, I sore repent.
My sheepskin seems a fleeting vision
In toil my midnight hours are spent,
To graduate — my chief ambition.

Ah! Freshman, toiling up the way,
Lose not thy glowing aspirations
Nor wreck thy spirit young and gay
In reckless, empty dissipations.

"A Senior's Lament," 1903 Adytum.
